

WEST VIRGINIA'S CONTEST

Brought to the Attention of President-Elect Harrison

AND HE EXPRESSES SYMPATHY

For the Republicans in Their Effort to Uphold the Constitution--Gen. Goff Named for a Cabinet Place. His Chances for the Honor.

Special Dispatch to the Intelligence.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Feb. 23.—Hon. N. B. Scott, National Committeeman for West Virginia and member of the State Senate, was here to-day and called on General Harrison, with whom he had an interview lasting over an hour. He brought with him a document signed by the Republican members of the Legislature, and the members of the State Senate, in which they expressed their sympathy for the President-Elect in his effort to uphold the Constitution, and in his effort to bring about a change in the Government, in view of which course the Republicans say they expect no justice in the determination of the contest, and request General Harrison to honor the Republican party in the State by inviting General Goff to place in his Cabinet. General Harrison showed that he had watched closely the progress of events in West Virginia and expressed his sympathy with the Republicans in the contest they were now on hand. He spoke in the highest terms of General Goff, and left the impression that if he had known earlier that General Goff would be at liberty to accept, West Virginia would probably have been asked to come into the Cabinet. He had expected the election of Goff to the Senate. He did not say it was now too late to consider him for the Cabinet. Mr. Scott left for home this afternoon.

A MEMORABLE SCENE

General Harrison's Last Sunday at His Home Church--Eloquent Words of Parting Addressed to Him by His Pastor--Affectionate Farewells.

INDIANAPOLIS, Feb. 24.—General Harrison's last Sabbath at home before his departure to assume the Presidency was a notable day to the pastor and members of his church, the First Presbyterian. When the hour for beginning the service arrived, the great congregation in the large temple and the aisles were crowded with visitors, chairs having been brought in from the Sunday School rooms.

General Harrison, accompanied by Mrs. Harrison and Mr. and Mrs. McKee, were among the early arrivals. A special musical programme had been arranged for the occasion. At the conclusion of his sermon proper, the Rev. M. L. Haine spoke as follows: "Before these services close, I cannot but bear in mind that to-day is prominent in the rights of all—the fact that this is the last service prior to his departure from among us of one who for more than the third of a century has been identified with this Christian church as a member and an officer. On account of his personal esteem and of gratification over your election to the chief magistracy of the Nation is to-day overshadowed by the necessity of separation, and especially of the sacredness of the solemn responsibilities which he has assumed on earth is qualified to meet in his own wisdom and strength. For unto you in no small degree will be given to influence for weal or for the interests of millions of people. Ye go forth to meet these responsibilities, carrying with you, as you well know, the unwavering confidence as well as the warm personal regard of your fellow Christians. We have learned to believe in you in your personal integrity, in your tested, established, Christian character. Character is superior to achievement. It is itself the highest achievement. Office without character is nothing, and joy in the anticipation that you will exhibit to the people of this Nation that crowning glory of magistrates and sovereigns, a genuine, broad, Christian manhood, pure in its purpose, catholic in its spirit, undeviating in its loyalty to God, to country, to God, in the stormy days of our civil war we recall that in the charge on the field of battle once and again you led the ranks forward and planted the flag of our country upon the ramparts of gallantry and valor. You were leader and commander of three score millions of people we pray Almighty God to grant unto you strength and courage and wisdom to lead these hosts forward in the path of justice and truth until our standard shall be planted to the height of a God honoring and true enduring prosperity. We know that you have set before you the 'pole star' of your public life to use your own words, 'to promote the true glory of our country and the highest good of our people.' I speak for all the members of this church when I say that we hold you and cherish you in our hearts, and we will remember you in our prayers, ever beseeching God of nations upon whom our fathers looked and were lightened to guide you by his counsel, to shield you by his providence, to comfort you in heavenly wisdom, and to make you perfect in every good work and to do His will."

Dr. Haines, during the delivery of his farewell tribute, spoke with much feeling, and had the rapid attention of his large audience.

General Harrison sat with head slightly bowed as though greatly affected by the solemnity of the occasion, as was Mrs. Harrison and Mrs. McKee. Just before dismissing the congregation Dr. Haines asked them all to rise and join in singing "Our Native Home" to the tune of "America," and the words of the hymn were rendered with so much pathos that hundreds of the audience were affected to tears and both General and Mrs. Harrison were visibly affected. As the congregation passed out all the members of the church and many who were not members looked over to where General and Mrs. Harrison were standing near the side entrance and bid them good bye. The occasion was one that called forth all the feelings of the General and his old associates, and many of the farewells were tendered in a silent hand clasp. During the afternoon many neighbors and friends called to bid them farewell and "God speed."

The General will leave his home at 2:15 to-morrow, escorted by Governor Hoyer, Mayor Deary and other distinguished citizens. When their carriage reaches the corner of Ohio and Pennsylvania streets it will be met by an escort of 400 or more veterans of George H. Thomas Post and escorted to the depot.

Russell T. Harrison, son of General Harrison, and his wife, Mrs. Harrison, arrived from Omaha this afternoon. The Presidential party will consist of General and Mrs. Harrison, Russell Harrison, wife and children, Mrs. Lord, the sister of Mrs. Harrison and Mrs. Katon, the sister of General Harrison, the Hon. J. M. Hunsford, Senator and Mrs. Saunders, of Ohio, Stenographer Tibbitt and family and Miss Sanger, stenographer. The special train for the Presidential party arrived from Pittsburgh last night in charge of General Superintendent J. F. Miller, of the Pennsylvania road.

UNDER ONE TENT

The Sons of Veterans Harmonize Their Differences by Adopting the Camp System.

CHICAGO, Ill., Feb. 24.—The consolidation of the rival Post system and Camp system of the Sons of Veterans was completed here yesterday. It was done at a conference between Colonel A. L. Conger, of Ohio; Corporal Tanner, of New York; General Thomas Bennett, of Indiana; Colonel John Burr, of Illinois; and Colonel George M. Devin, of Michigan, representing the Grand Army of the Republic; George W. Marks, of Brooklyn, Commander-in-Chief of the Post system, and G. B. Abbott, of Chicago, Commander-in-Chief of the Camp system. The Grand Army men acted as arbitrators.

In the harmonizing or compromise of the differences between the two opposing organizations, it was decided the new body shall be known as the Camp system; shall use the fraternal title of "Comrade" in place of "Brother," the title of officers shall conform to the usage of the Grand Army of the Republic, except that camps may organize a drill corps, which, when armed and equipped, may employ strict military discipline. The other details are left to the two organizations, except that it is provided the membership badge and charter of the camp system shall be used and the insignia and rank of the post system, as arbitrators.

The first official expression of these conditions was made by President Monroe in the message sent to Congress in 1823, embodying what has become known as the Monroe doctrine. The joint resolution under consideration, the report says, is in accordance with the declaration made by Mr. Monroe, applied to existing conditions and the development of events. The announcement of the Monroe doctrine has emboldened the European dynasty in America with the idea of extending their empire to the West Indies and the Pacific Ocean. It is secured and has preserved the independence of the Central and South American Republics. It was successfully invoked when Spain was in peril; it enabled the United States to thwart the attempt of Great Britain to exercise dominion in Nicaragua under the pretense of benedicting the Mosquito Indians; it prevented the establishment of a European dynasty in America with Maximilian as Emperor; and it has enabled our Government to gradually eliminate the domination of France and Spain in Mexico, whose possessions at the time almost surrounded our Republic; and with the power of destiny and the genius and energy and pluck of the American people, Great Britain may soon be amicably eradicated from her colonies, and the three Americas become a constellation of Republics filled with happy, prosperous, free, and independent people. The joint resolution under consideration, says the report, simply declares that the Government of the United States will look with serious concern and disapproval upon any connection of any European Government with the construction or control of either the Panama canal or the Nicaragua canal, and that the United States will look with serious concern and disapproval upon any connection of any European Government with the construction or control of either the Panama canal or the Nicaragua canal, and that the United States will look with serious concern and disapproval upon any connection of any European Government with the construction or control of either the Panama canal or the Nicaragua canal.

Act of Heretofore—A Brave Engineer the Only Victim of a Collision.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Feb. 24.—Engineer Pete Jacobs, of the Ensley City Dummy Line, met a heroic death in a shocking manner early this morning. His train was crossing that of the Mineral road. He saw a heavy freight approaching at a rapid speed, but as he was nearest the crossing and entitled to the right of way he blew his whistle and went ahead. The freight never stopped, but came thundering on, dashed into the passenger engine and smashed it to pieces. The brave engineer was mangled and scalped in a frightful manner. The driver jumped and saved his life. He could have rushed forward and saved his own life, but poor Jacobs, before he died, "but the freight would have struck one of my passenger coaches, and, as it was crowded, doubtless twenty-five people would have been killed." He leaves a wife and five children.

Supreme Receiver Leontart of the A. O. U. W. Dies at His Home.

MEADVILLE, Pa., Feb. 24.—Joseph H. Leontart, Supreme Receiver of the Ancient Order of United Workmen, died at his home in Meadville, Pa., at 2:45 o'clock a. m., February 24, 1889, of congestion of the lungs, after forty-eight hours illness. Mr. Leontart was one of the pioneers of the United Workmen, having been continuously in official connection therewith since 1872. He was Grand Master Workman of Pennsylvania in 1876, elected a representative to the Supreme Lodge in 1878, served as a member of the Supreme Lodge Finance Committee from 1880 to 1882, and was elected Supreme Receiver in 1883, which position he held up to the date of his death. He was a member of the Select Knights Ancient Order of United Workmen and also a prominent Mason and Odd Fellow. Mr. Leontart was 58 years of age.

SURPRISED MASKERS.

Murdering an Old Man with Revolvers, when the Sons Interfered.

EAST LIVERPOOL, O., Feb. 24.—At two o'clock last night three masked men entered the residence of Thomas McGown, a wealthy man residing in a lonely spot in the country four miles from here, and demanded his money or his life. They stood over him in bed with cocked revolvers, when two of his sons who were sleeping in another room heard the demand, and entered the old man's room with a lamp and two cocked revolvers. The surprise of the burglars was so great that they fled, one of them dropping some money, which was taken by their pursuers. The remainder of the party fled, and the money was found to be $175.00. The silver product was $78,532.00, of which the commercial value of about $43,000.00, and of the gold value of $35,000.00. This is an increase of $1,153,327.00 since the product in 1887.

TURPENTINE EXPLOSION.

CHICAGO, Feb. 24.—A $45,000 fire was caused by an explosion of turpentine this morning in the three-story and basement brick building, 63 and 65 Canal street. One third of the loss is on the building, which was owned by S. B. Richards. The remainder is divided among half a dozen manufacturing firms, of which the largest losers are Goodell & Waters, woodworking machinery, $10,000. All well insured.

MYSTERY MISSING.

CINCINNATI, Feb. 24.—Charles H. Williams, the cashier of the Cincinnati, Columbus, Cleveland and Indianapolis and Erie railroads at the Cincinnati office, has been absent mysteriously since last Wednesday night. It is not known that he had any reason for leaving, and although his books are undergoing an examination, nothing wrong in his accounts has been developed.

AN AMERICAN POLICY

Demanding With Regard to the Panama Canal Scheme.

REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE

On Foreign Affairs Completed—A Patriotic Paper—The Course to Preserve the Autonomy of Our Sister Republics.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24.—Representative McCrory, of Kentucky, in behalf of the majority members of the Committee on Foreign Affairs, has prepared a report recommending the adoption of the Edmunds Panama canal resolution. The report says the resolution comes to the House after being carefully considered and almost unanimously adopted by the Senate. It reaffirms a public policy that is of both national and international importance; a public policy that has been so publicly interwoven with the treaties and teachings, doctrines and necessities of the American people that it seems to have originated in the earliest days of the Republic.

The first official expression of these conditions was made by President Monroe in the message sent to Congress in 1823, embodying what has become known as the Monroe doctrine. The joint resolution under consideration, the report says, is in accordance with the declaration made by Mr. Monroe, applied to existing conditions and the development of events. The announcement of the Monroe doctrine has emboldened the European dynasty in America with the idea of extending their empire to the West Indies and the Pacific Ocean. ANARCHIST WORKINGS.

When Neebe Confesses Judge Gary Will Consider His Petition.

CHICAGO, Feb. 21.—Louis W. H. Neebe has returned from Joliet, where he went to call on his brother Oscar, the Anarchist. Prior to going to Joliet Mr. Neebe had a talk with Judge Gary, who presided at the Anarchist trial, on the subject of a petition for the prisoner's pardon, and was told that when Oscar had made him a full statement regarding the formations, workings and plans of the Anarchist Group, including the Lehr and Wehr Verein; how he became Marshal of an armed body known as the Lehr Verein; how he was lost or injured his fingers in experiments with dynamite; what steps he and others took in the consummation of their proposed social revolution; the plans and schemes of the group, and the progress of the trial, and then expressed regret and contrition, then he (the Judge) would be in a position to say what he would do on the question of signing a petition for pardon. A statement of the requirements was made before Oscar, and he agreed to fulfill them. The prison authorities have furnished him pen, ink and paper for this purpose, and the statement is probably being written now.

BUSINESS OF CONGRESS.

Poor Prospect for Getting Through Much Business Before Adjournment.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 24.—The history of the Fifty-fifth Congress has now practically been written; the few remaining days of its existence being by no means full of promise for the countless number of measures that clutter the calendars. From this date up to the hour when the gavel of the presiding officer falls, there is but one thing to be expected, except the enactment of the remaining appropriation bills and the adoption of conference reports on a few other measures which have already been substantially agreed to by both houses. In the Senate, the postoffice appropriation bill (the only one now in committee) will be easily reported and passed with little debate, except upon the receding of the Senate. The passage of the other annual appropriation bills will follow as rapidly as they are received from the House and considered by the Appropriation Committee.

Cullom is determined to press the Oklahoma bill for passage, but the fact that Mr. Butler has secured Mr. Platt's support for his substitute gives rise to an expectation that its course will be untroubled. It is the duty of the public lands committee, respecting lands in Kansas and Louisiana will be urged upon the attention of the Senate by Mr. Plumb, and Mr. Blair stands ready to seize an opportunity for congressional action in relation to sectarian instruction in public schools and to woman's suffrage.

Mr. Hoar, feeling that he is carrying out the caucus mandate, will insist upon the consideration of the Sherman anti-trust election of the Sherman anti-trust bill, which has been referred only to the appropriation bills, and as the Democratic Senators have in no wise changed their purpose to endeavor to indefinitely delay affirmative action on the Sherman anti-trust bill, if, as before stated, that little can be done by the Senate in the line of general legislation.

In the House a corresponding state of affairs exists as the result of entirely different causes. The House has no bill to report, and the bill is in the hands of the committee. Mr. Randall, having a report from the Committee on Rules providing for the consideration of the Cowles resolution, said that he had been there for the consideration of the Cowles resolution, and he did not doubt that the 300 ex-Confederates there assembled hung their heads with shame as their gutters uttered such sentiment.

Major Stewart said that he had very much to say in relation to the bill at the Southern Society banquet, and had asked for one as representative of the cause of the house, but had not received it, and that since he had been in the North he had had much to say in relation to the bill, and he did not doubt that the 300 ex-Confederates there assembled hung their heads with shame as their gutters uttered such sentiment.

The following appeal was issued:

For over two years the John B. Hood Camp, Confederate Veterans, of Annapolis, Md., with the help of the citizens of that city, have been endeavoring to raise money for the relief of the poor and disabled veterans of the "Lost Cause." The home consists of an old frame house and a tent with 16 acres of land. The people of that city have contributed over $10,000 to the cause, and the Hood Camp is still contributing. The need is great. Many applications for admission are on file, but cannot be considered, as the home is full.
